What we look for...

It is important that the students are a cultural fit with Mainfreight, they also need to be motivated, action-oriented and pro-active. We seek curious minds who are not afraid to make questions and taking action. The programme is for recent graduates with a desire to build a long-lasting career within Mainfreight and are up for a big challenge.

What we offer...

If you want to dive into the dynamic, fast paced world of supply chain and you're not afraid to step outside your comfort zone, you've come to the right place. The Mainfreight Development Programme is for students with ambition that align with our people-focused culture. We give you the opportunities to make change happen and take on responsibility while developing personally and professionally as you learn how you want to contribute to and make the greatest impact on the business.

By joining our three-year Development Programme, you will receive a great combination of 'doing' and 'learning'. We encourage our team to learn the business from the ground up, which means starting in an operational role to find out what makes the business tick. Here you'll gain valuable knowledge that will help you build a long-lasting, successful career, with opportunities to learn about the different parts of our business across Air & Ocean, Warehousing and Transport. Our most successful global leaders started in Mainfreight the same way – this could be you!
